

martindales

Martindales are architects and project managers based in Cambridge.

We have had the pleasure of working with over forty schools over the past twelve years, on both new and refurbishment schemes. We have undertaken projects at secondary, primary and infant schools as well as sixth form colleges. We have also developed specialist curriculum areas for schools, including Centres of Excellence, with some gaining specialist college status. These include Sawston Village College (Cambridge) for music, Hedley Walter High School (Brentwood) for sports and art, Clacton County High School for drama and media and Sharnbrook Upper School (Bedfordshire) for technology.

Through our work with education authorities and schools we have also gained significant expertise in the planned development of school premises. We have been involved in the development of Asset Management Plans and ICT provision as well as the development of school projects where there is shared community use. We consider sustainability, environmental issues and running costs as integral parts of the building design process.
